JESSICA HILL

Jessica Hill is a private wealth advisor at Loomis, Sayles & Company, where she covers the broker/dealer community in the western part of the US. She is responsible for facilitating and supporting the development of new business across all fixed income strategies at the firm. Additionally, Jessica provides investor education and serves as the liaison between portfolio management and financial advisors and their clients. She has 27 years of investment industry experience and joined Loomis Sayles in 2019 as part of the firm's acquisition of McDonnell Investment Management, where she had most recently served as a vice president and client portfolio specialist. Prior to her role at McDonnell, Jessica served as an assistant vice president and technical analyst for UBS Financial Services in California, where she was responsible for driving the sales of separately managed accounts and fee-based mutual funds. In addition, she provided investment manager analysis, portfolio recommendations and asset allocation strategies to financial advisors and their clients. From 1997-2002, Jessica was a vice president in sales and marketing of separately managed accounts at PIMCO Advisors. She earned a BA from Pepperdine University and is a member of the Investments and Wealth Institute.
